Who'll Take 'er?

Fine Bottom Farm of 156 Acres
Well Improved, Already Stocked
For Only $35 an Acre....

Owner has other business opportunities and will sell this place at much less than it is worth. It can be had with buildings, stock, farming implements and poultry already on it.

Two residences on place, in only moderate repair, but two good barns, one 36 and the other 32 feet, with sheds on sides. Nice young bearing orchard, 50 bushels apples, plenty of plums, etc. 100 acres of the place in cultivation; produces 60 bushels corn, a bale of cotton per acre, also alfalfa, oats, wheat, potatoes and all other crops of this section. A fine stock farm, now stocked with registered hogs of three kinds, live stock and about 200 chickens, guineas, etc., which may be bought with place. All under good American wire fence, but outside is a range of 3,000 acres for stock. Three good wells and pumps on farm.

Land is next to river, but is being added to yearly by river deposits. No better soil under the sun. Place will stand any kind of investigation you may care to make.

This is an extremely low price, as low as any unimproved land, but absolutely nothing wrong with the farm or its title. Makes a good crop every year. If you want either a Fulton county farm or a good investment, it will pay you to buy this place.

HOW TO CARE FOR SILVER.

Too Much Scouring Will Wear Out Plate and Means Needless Work.

While all housewives take genuine pride in the handsome appearance of their table silver, many find the care of it a burden and give themselves an unnecessary amount of labor over it. The weekly cleaning, which is a bugbear to many housewives, is not only needless, but a real harm, since constant scouring will soon wear off silver plate and has an appreciable effect even upon solid silver. To avoid this it is hoped that the following hints may prove helpful to some housekeepers.

Silver in daily use should be washed as soon as possible after leaving the table, following immediately after the glasses in the process of dishwashing. After a preliminary rinsing to remove loose food lay aside any stained pieces for future care and immerse the rest in a pan of clean, hot, soapy water. Wash such pieces as need it with a soft cloth and place them all in another pan of hot water to which a tablespoonful of ammonia and a dash of soap have been added. Wipe the pieces directly from this water without draining them. Plenty of dry, soft towels are required. Follow this by a rub with chamolite skin or soft flannel, rubbing briskly, but not heavily enough to bend the handles.

Take the stained pieces next. Egg stains are removed with wet salt, others with whitening moistened with alcohol or ammonia. After all stains have been removed wash and polish pieces as above. Two coarse, wide mouthed pitchers will be found a convenience in washing silver. Soap should never be rubbed directly on the silver, but a strong suds should be made with the soap shaker. This program may seem somewhat elaborate at first, but if persisted in it easily becomes a habit, and the result is much more than worth the trouble.

For the grand cleaning choose a clear, dry day. Provide yourself with a convenient table covered with oil-cloth or paper. Have whitening, sifted three times, in a dish before you, a small bottle of alcohol, one of ammonia, a soft brush, flannel and cotton rags, chamolite skin and plenty of tissue paper.

Begin with the small pieces and separate the sets. For the most part a rub with a cloth dipped first in alcohol, then in whitening, will be all that is needed to clean, but if the articles are much stained make a paste of the whitening and alcohol and apply thickly, allowing it to dry on. After this cleaning rub all the articles first with old flannel, then with chamolite, using the brush to remove the whitening from the ornamental work. In case there are obstinate stains which do not yield to this treatment a competent authority advises touching them with oxalic acid, washing it off immediately and then rubbing again with the whitening and alcohol. Oxalic acid is a poison, and all due precautions must be observed in its use. If the spot looks dull after the acid has been used rub it hard with a flannel rag moistened with sweet oil and dry whitening.

After everything is shining and clean all that which is not in daily use should be put away in cotton flannel bags, each containing a small bit of camphor gum. It is an added protection also if each piece is previously well wrapped in white tissue paper. Paraffin paper is excellent for wrapping, as it helps to exclude gas, which is the greatest household agent, either coal or illuminating gas, in tarnishing silver.

This thorough cleaning should not have to be done oftener than once or twice a year if the pieces to be put away are properly protected and the daily care outlined above is bestowed upon all the articles in daily use.

How to Clean Bagdad Rugs.

It is very difficult to wash a Bagdad couch cover or rug successfully. The colors are almost sure to run when treated in the ordinary way. Before beginning operations separate the strips. Then wash each one in a separate water. Use white soap and lukewarm water to which a little salt has been added after a suds has been raised by brisk stirring. Do not rub the strips on a washboard, but merely dip them into the water and stir them briskly, then quickly rinse them and hang them over a clotheshorse in the kitchen away from the sunlight. Be careful when drying that the strips do not overlap. When almost dry press out the wrinkles with a hot iron. If the soiled strips have become slightly worn exchange them with those on the outside when sewing the cover together again.

How to Cook Pumpkin.

The best way to cook a pumpkin is to set it in a tin and then place it directly in the oven without any other preliminary treatment than a light washing with a wet vegetable brush. Bake it for an hour or more, according to the size of the pumpkin. When it is done open the steam end and remove the seeds. The rind will peel off as though it were so much paper. As a time and trouble saver there is no better way to cook a pumpkin.

How to Have Pins Handy.

A pin cushion on the wrist is a convenience to the small dressmaker. It should be a small, soft cushion, attached to an elastic band just snug enough to wear on the left wrist. No stopping of work is then necessary to look for a pin.

Bouillon.

Round steak, no fat or bone, five pounds. Cut in tiny pieces and add one quart of water to each pound of round steak. Let it come slowly to a boil, skim carefully and keep at simmering point from eight to ten hours. Strain, set to cool and next morning skim again, and do not allow any sediment to pass into the saucepan. Add seasoning of celery, bay leaves, parsley, sage, bit of raw onion, salt, pepper, whole peppercorns, two or three cloves and boil for 20 minutes, then strain through cloth. Serve in bouillon cups if possible.

Sausage Rolls.

Form sausage meat into rolls two inches long and twice as thick as your finger. Fry until done. Drain in a heated colander. Have ready strips of pastry, having each strip three inches wide and long enough to fold about a sausage roll. Wrap each sausage roll in a strip of pastry and bake to a delicate brown. Eat while very hot.—Harper's Bazar.

Sugar Cookies.

Two eggs, one and one-half cups sugar, one cup shortening (half butter, half lard), three tablespoons sour milk, one teaspoon soda dissolved in boiling water, one-half nutmeg. Use flour enough to mix good. Roll thin and sprinkle with sugar.

Three to Elect.

An election will be held June 7th, to elect three school directors to fill the vacancy made by the expiration of the terms of Mayor Tom Dillon, W. C. Johnson and Marion Provow—or one in East, one in West and one in Old Hickman.

This is one election that generally slips up and is over before we know it, and sufficient interest is not taken in it. We have a good board, fortunately, but the way to continue to have a good one is to take an interest in such matters.

Present indications are that the coming election will be a little more spicy than some of them are.

Splendid Sermon.

On Sunday, May 21, a thrilling and scholarly baccalaureate sermon was preached at the Court House, by Rev. Gardner, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Greenfield, Tenn.

Rev. Gardner's superb oratory, the appropriate music, the elaborate floral decorations, and the attractiveness of class and people, made a beautiful and interesting service in honor of our schools.

A well known business man, who knows from experience what he is talking about, said the other day that B. B. Johnson, local agent of the N. C. & St. L. R. R. Co., is positively the best and most accommodating agent he ever had dealings with. The Courier O. K.'s that statement. It also reminds us that one of the company's officials "higher up" said in our hearing not long ago, "you have the best agent we have on our system." And these statements are endorsed by our people generally. As a citizen, friend and business man, he is all the terms imply. If you do not think we have good local railroad service, just drop off at Union City or some other nearby point and make a comparison.
